

Memory of abandoning the practice of law about 40 years ago after 13 years of profoundly unsatisfying effort.

Memory of deciding that my own interests and those of my employers would be better served if I found another line of work.

Memory of devoting my energy to . . . other pursuits. More to that story.